Jesus' resurrection: Our hope for an assured future

There is no doubt that these past few years have been tough and challenging, to all of us, the world over. We have since then been in search for good news: Economic recovery, medical breakthroughs in the fight against Covid-19, normalcy in all spheres of life including enhanced justice services – these and more, are the rays of hope we are looking for in these challenging times.

Easter is a good reminder of the greatest news of hope for humanity that arrived on that Easter Sunday morning more than 2,000 years ago – the Resurrection of our Saviour, Jesus Christ.

I am certain that on the first Good Friday, few understood that the gruesome death of Jesus Christ on the rugged cross would be a game changer for all humanity.

His triumph over death on Easter Sunday, brought us hope for the future. In the same way, may that hope help us to transcend our differences to the horizons of Hope, Joy, Love and Peace.

Christ's selfless act of accepting to die on the cross exemplifies the greatest expression of mercy ever known to mankind. In the same spirit, the Judiciary strives to promote reconciliation and access to meaningful justice through different initiatives such as Alternative Dispute Resolution, Plea Bargaining and Small Claims Procedure, among others.

I pray that during this Easter season, we take time to meditate, reflect and embrace the hope that the Resurrected Jesus has brought unto us. This will triumph us through every hustle of our lives as we commemorate God's perfect love for mankind. Amen
